RUSSIANS NOW REJOICING

MANIFESTO INAUGURATES FREE SPEECH AND PRESS

Right of Association and National Assembly, Promising Ultimate Un- iversal Suffrage in Russia.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—Premier Witte today promises the immediate release of all political prisoners who can be liberated without danger to the public peace. It is believed this will bring an end of the strikes soon.

The situation following the Czar's declaration for reforms shows improvement, though the strikes continue in many places. Skirmishes between the troops and people are reported in various districts. In the churches throughout the empire, thanks are being offered to the Czar for the reforms.

The bureaucracy was taken by complete surprise at the turn of affairs. Many radicals express suspicion of Witte. They declare he is a liberal bureaucrat and will sustain the autocracy under new conditions by making the Czar guardian of the national assembly with power to veto distasteful legislation. Witte, they say, opposes universal suffrage and does not believe the mass of people is capable of self-government without guidance.

The Czar arrived today at his winter palace. The grounds were thronged with dense crowds of people.

Delirious rejoicing over the manifesto is today being followed by adoption by the people of a more critical attitude toward the reforms.

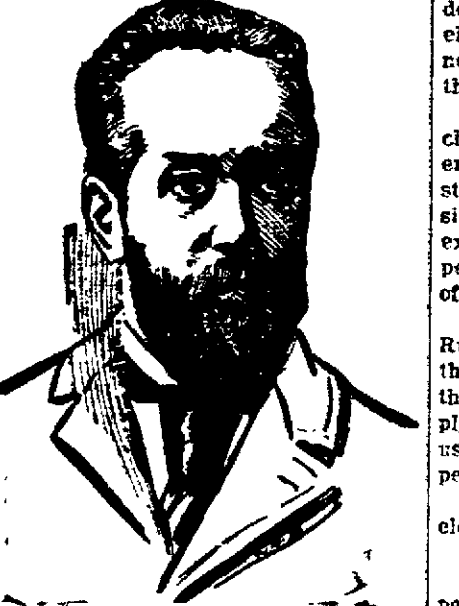

The first examination of the manifesto which the constitution proclaimed does not reveal a substantial gain of civil liberty over previous promises which have not been kept, except an extension of the franchise and the establishment of a cohesive cabinet.

Leaders of the radical party will not support the manifesto. They intend to begin the organization of the workingmen into a party which will demand the abolition of the nobility, universal suffrage, including an extension of the franchise to women, complete local autonomy with local legislatures similar to various state legislatures of America for Finland, Poland and Caucasus. Reports from the empire show improved conditions though trouble is threatened at Warsaw.

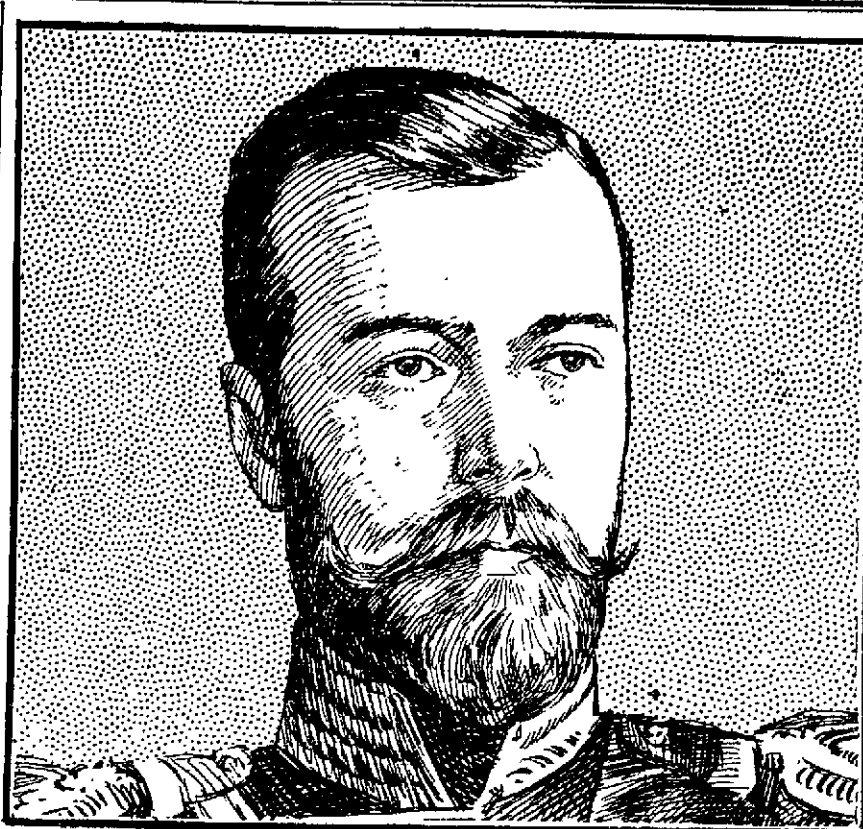

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—The strike has ended on the Moscow and St. Petersburg, the Moscow and Kazan and the Moscow and Archangel railroads.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 31.—Emperor Nicholas issued a manifesto granting liberty to the Russian people and forever ending the rule of absolutism. Count Witte, the man of the hour and Russia's first premier, was the first to announce that Russia had been granted a constitution.

A perusal of the manifesto shows how complete is the emperor's abdication of his autocratic power. The very style of the document is clear and direct and devoid of the bombastic phraseology which heretofore characterized his majesty's manifestos. It not only betrays real authorship, but shows that the emperor at last has irretrievably bowed to the inevitable. He does not even conceal the fact that discontent and agitation of his subjects has driven him to take the step and practically yields everything—civil

LATEST PORTRAIT OF THE CZAR OF RUSSIA.

The anxiety incident to the war and the trouble with his own subjects have left their impress in the features of the czar of Russia. He has greatly aged during the last year, and his pictures no longer show the boyish smile to which the world has been accustomed.

Czar Nicholas from the imperial palace at Peterhof has issued his manifesto that promises to bring great reforms in Russia. This manifesto means free speech, free press and a representative government for Russia, with ultimate universal suffrage promised.

assembly. He not only converts the farcical imperial duma, with only consultative power, into an absolute legislative assembly without the assent of which no measure shall become law and before which all governmental authorities must answer, but promises eventually universal suffrage.

The title "autocrat of all the Russias," with which the manifesto begins, now takes its place with the title of "king of Jerusalem," borne by the king of Spain and the emperor of Austria, and with other obsolete titles of European sovereigns.

The news spread like wildfire throughout the city. The revolutionists and active agitators generally declared loudly that the government's promise would no longer suffice and that the strike must be continued. In fact, an hour after the news became known the revolutionists took occasion to throw the first bomb in St. Petersburg used since the strike began. The incident occurred near the polytechnic school, but there was no fatality. Practically all classes except the Socialists and extreme radicals reads the document with delight and amazement, declaring that it could not fail to rally the moderates to the support of Count Witte.

The Czar's Decree.

The following is the text of the imperial manifesto:

"We, Nicholas II, by the grace of God, emperor and autocrat of all the Russias, declares to all our faithful subjects that the troubles and agitation in our capitals and in numerous other places fill our heart with excessive pain and sorrow. The happiness of the Russian sovereign is indissolubly bound up with the happiness of our people and the sorrow of our people is the sorrow of the sovereign. From the present disorders may arise great national disruption. They menace the integrity and unity of our empire. The supreme duty imposed upon us by our sovereign office requires us to efface ourselves and to use all the force and reason at our command to hasten in securing the unity and co-ordination of the power of the central government and to assure the success of measures for pacification in all circles of public life, which are essential to the well being of our people. We, therefore, direct our government, to carry out our inflexible will in the following manner:

"First. To extend to the population the immutable foundations of civil liberty, based on the real inviolability of person; freedom of conscience, speech, union and association.

"Second. Without suspending the already ordered elections to the state duma, to invite to participation in the duma, so far as the limited time before the convocation of the duma will permit, those classes of the population now completely deprived of electoral rights, leaving the ultimate development of the principle of the electoral right in general to the newly established legislative order of things.

"Third. To establish as an unchangeable rule that no law shall be enforceable without approval of the state duma and that it shall be possible for the elected of the people to exercise real participation in the supervision of the legality of the acts of the authorities appointed by us.

"We appeal to all faithful sons of Russia to remember their duty toward the fatherland, to aid in terminating the unprecedented troubles and to apply their forces, in co-operation with us, to the restoration of calm and peace upon our natal soil.

"Given at Peterhof, Oct. 30, in the eleventh year of our reign.

"NICHOLAS"

The effect throughout Russia is expected to be instantaneous. While the extremists threaten an attempt to keep up the present struggle the best opinion is that the backbone of the strike is broken, but in the final analysis the effect will depend on how far Count Witte will be able to execute the heavy task which he has assumed. Some persons high in the government believe it still will be necessary to use ball cartridges to suppress the present movement, but Count Witte appears confident. He has become the bridge whereby the people are to cross to constitutionalism.

The count already has tentatively selected the members of his cabinet. He will himself hold no portfolio. All the present ministers except those of war, navy and foreign affairs, will be retired.

Hundred Killed or Hurt.

Reval, Russia, Oct. 31.—The troops fired two volleys on a crowd in the market place, killing or wounding over 100 persons. Crowds of people are parading the streets singing the "Marseillaise." A mob destroyed the Hotel de France.

Day of Rioting.

Riga, Russia, Oct. 31.—During the day collisions between the troops and the armed populace continued. Many persons were killed or wounded, the strikers using knives and revolvers, killing a number of police with cold steel.

HELD SERIOUS IS TRAIN CASE

STATE DEPARTMENT SENDS FOR PARTICULARS ABOUT THE SHOOTING AFFAIR.

Neither Chinese Minister Nof State Department Has an Official Report Yet.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The navy department today received two dispatches from Rear Admiral Train, dated yesterday at Shanghai. No mention was made about his having been attacked by a Chinese mob at Nanking. Target practice of the battleship Oregon was the subject of one message and the other conveyed expression of the pleasure of the Mikado at the visit of the American warships at Japan. In view of these messages the navy department officials are today disposed to discredit the story that Admiral Train and his son were attacked at Nanking. Shanghai is a long distance from Nanking which fact also tend to throw discredit upon the story cabled from China yesterday.

Washington, Oct. 31.—The state department has cabled to the United States consul at Nanking, China, asking particulars about the case of Admiral Train, who, according to cablegram from Shanghai, got into serious trouble in Nanking after accidentally wounding a Chinese woman. In view of the present strained relations between the United States and China, and particularly on account of the fact that Nanking is the center of the boycott movement of American goods, the incident is regarded as serious. However, neither the Chinese minister in this city nor the state department have been officially notified.

Train and his son, Lieutenant Train, were victims of a savage attack by Chinese outside Nanking. They were phoned shooting when the admiral accidentally shot a Chinese woman, slightly injuring her. Hundreds of villagers thereupon surrounded the officers, took away their guns, knocked the admiral down in the mud and held Lieutenant Train as a hostage. A force of 40 marines landed as a rescue party and was attacked by a mob of Chinamen who tried to pitch the officers into the water. The marines were obliged to fire twice.

INVESTIGATION OF MURDER

BEGUN BY BOSTON OFFICERS IN PITTSBURG TODAY

Police Think Nathan Was With Girl
When She Wrote Letter on Her Death Bed.

Boston, Oct. 31.—Morris Nathan, the sweetheart of Susan Geary, will likely be brought here soon from Pittsburg. He will be called upon to tell the police all he knows about the affair. Nathan is not accused of having committed the crime himself. The police are seeking to connect a woman with the actual death of the girl.

The police now have a theory that the man or woman who performed the operation on the dead girl did not dismember the body. A physician was summoned from another city to do that work, they believe. The body was packed in the dress suit cases and the head was probably placed in quick time, they think.

The police say Nathan was in Boston during the greater part of the day, September 19, and that the "Shepherd King" company with which he and the girl were both connected, appeared in Salem that night. They think Nathan was not only with the then practically dying girl when she scrawled a last letter to her mother, but that for the purpose of furthering the deception Nathan carried the letter with him when he went to Salem that day and dropped it into the Salem postoffice in time for it to be stamped at 6:30 p. m. The letter reads:

"Dear Mother—I have just arrived in Salem. Have been sick and was not able to write before. Enclosed please find $5 which I owe papa. He remembers me borrowing it from him. Do not write until you hear from me. If any letters are forwarded to the house keep them for me.

"Your loving little Ethel.

"Love and kisses."

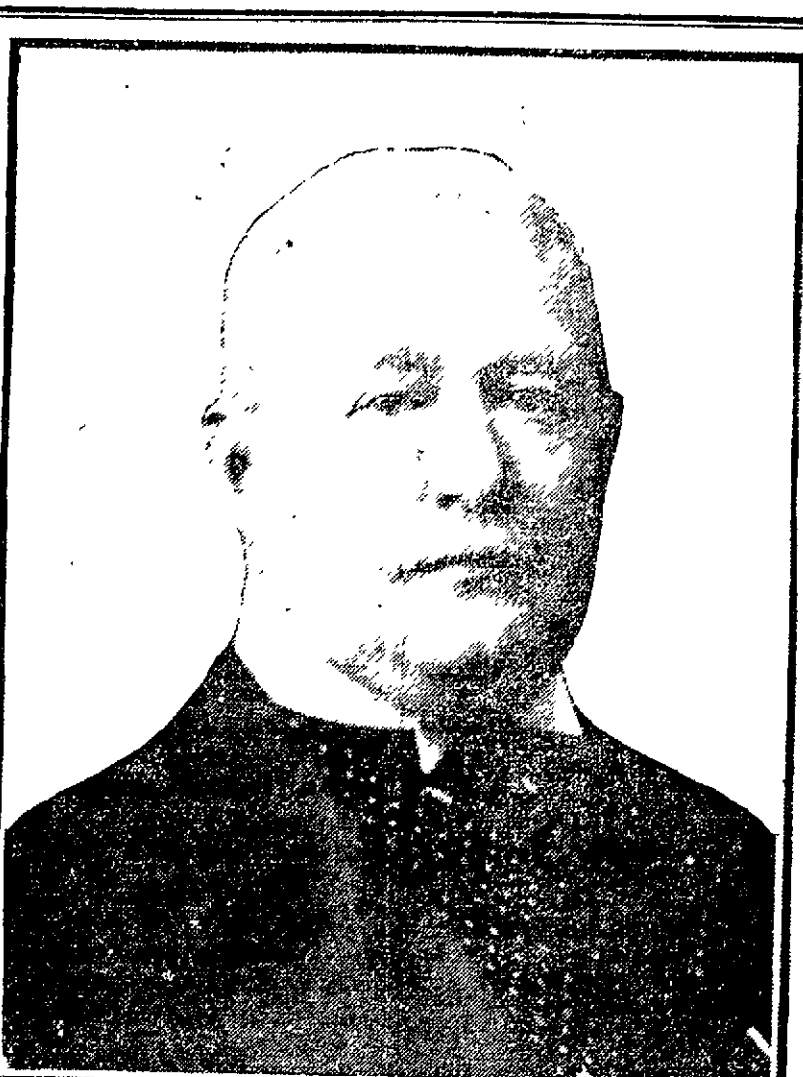

Inspector Watts believes Nathan knows where the girl was taken to be cared for after which she was operated upon, that he visited her at that place, which was the scene of her death and the dismemberment of her body, and that he knows who mutilated her remains after death.

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 31.—A thorough investigation of the death of Miss Geary, the Boston dress suit case murder victim, in connection with which Morris Nathan is under arrest here, commenced this morning with the arrival of two officers, Smith and McGirr, from Boston. A conference was held by the visiting officers and Superintendent of Detectives McQuade. McQuade repeated to the Boston officers the developments of the last 24 hours. Then Smith and McGirr visited the prisoner. The officers found Nathan sleeping.

"There are absolutely no developments locally in the case," declared McQuade this morning.

He would not say if Nathan had committed himself or that he had told the officers whether he knew of a surgical operation of a kind having been performed on a girl. Since Miss Geary disappeared Nathan has been despondent.

Ed Geers, turfman, bought the trotter Pulsus from F. & Son of Birmingham, Ala., paying $3,500. Pulsus was the surprise of the Birmingham circuit.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE NEW YORK LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

John A. McCall, president of the New York Life Insurance company, has played one of the most prominent parts in the legislative life insurance investigation and has, in fact, been one of the most conspicuous insurance men in America for many years. He began his business career with the Connecticut Mutual Life and was afterward comptroller of the Equitable.

JOHN H. MC'CUNE IS DEAD

Prominent Hardware Merchant and Civil War Veteran Passes Away at His North Fifth Street Residence After a Short Illness—Funeral Probably Thursday.

Captain John Holbrook McCune, one of the most prominent business men and highly respected citizens of Newark, died at his home, 144 North Fifth street at 11:45 o'clock Tuesday morning after an illness of only four days, which terminated in acute pneumonia Tuesday morning, and was the immediate cause of his death. Among those who were at his bedside when he breathed his last were his three daughters, Eleanor, Alice and Julia McCune, his cousin, John P. McCune of Columbus, and the Rev. T. A. Cosgrove, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church.

The deceased was born in Brattleboro, Vt., May 5, 1840, and his ancestors for several generations had been residents of New England. His parents were Charles and Elizabeth McCune. His father, who was a hardware merchant, died in 1852, when young John McCune was only twelve years old. He attended the common schools, in childhood, and at the age of thirteen years came to Newark, where he engaged with his uncle, John McCune, as a clerk in the hardware store, and so continued until 1858, when he and his brother, Frank, succeeded to the business. In 1861 he enlisted and was mustered into service with Company H, Thirty-first Ohio Infantry, of which he was commissioned First Lieutenant. His first engagement was at on Thursday.

Mills Springs, after which he went to Corinth, and he was then promoted to the rank of captain. As such he led his company in the battles of Stone River, Perryville, Chickamauga and Mission Ridge, and later served on the staff of the following generals: Schoepf, S. S. Fry, James E. Steadman and Baird. He returned home in February, 1864, and resumed his business, which his brother Frank had carried on during his absence. He has been engaged in the hardware business in Newark for over 50 years.

On September 26, 1866 Captain McCune was married to Miss Eleanor Brown of Somerset. To this union six children were born, three sons and three daughters, of whom the daughters are living, being Eleanor, Alice and Julia McCune.

Captain McCune was a member of Lemert Post No. 71, G. A. R., and was also a member of the Second Presbyterian church of this city.

Besides the immediate family the deceased is survived by one sister, Mrs. Charles F. Thompson of Brattleboro, Vt., Jonas P. McCune, an uncle of Columbus, and two cousins, Edward L. of Columbus, and John P. McCune, president of the Newark Machine company.

At his writing no arrangements have been made for the funeral, although it is quite likely that it will be held on Thursday.

Ohio Commissioner of Insurance Will Have to Go—Is Suffering From Carbuncle.

Columbus, O., Oct. 31.—Word has been received here from Lancaster that the condition of Arthur I. Vorys, commissioner of insurance, is such that he will have to submit to a surgical operation. Mr. Vorys has been suffering for about one week with an immense carbuncle on his right leg, near the hip.

JEROME RULED OFF BY ELECTION BOARD

By Tie Vote Board Declines to Put District Attorney's Name in the Republican Column.

New York, Oct. 31.—By a tie vote of 2 to 2, the board of election of the city declined to place the name of William T. Jerome in the Republican column of the official ballot for the election of district attorney. The board was divided 2 to 2 on the question, the Republican column being headed by the name of William T. Jerome and the Democratic column by the name of William T. Jerome.

PRESIDENT IN WASHINGTON.

Washington, Oct. 31.—President Roosevelt arrived at the navy yard this noon and was greeted with the customary salute of 21 guns. The marine band played "Star Spangled Banner" and the president stood on the deck. Six officers in gold lace were drawn up at attention, and a crowd assembled on the wharf. All stood with uniformed heads until the anthem was played. Mrs. Roosevelt was at the White House and shortly after landing she was followed by the president, followed by the cabinet members, Secretary Loeb, Justice Story and Mr. Roosevelt's name should not be placed in the column of the Republican column.

GERMANY

Courts an Agreement With United States on Trade Treaty

WOULD PROMOTE EXCHANGES

AMBASSADOR WILL SUBMIT MATTER TO ROOSEVELT

Von Buelow Makes Statement Expressing His Views on This Important Subject.

Berlin, Oct. 31.—Germany courts a new commercial treaty with the United States. Baron Speck von Sternberg, German ambassador to the United States, who sailed for New York from Bremen, will on his arrival at Washington this week submit to President Roosevelt the proposals of the German government for a new trade agreement between the United States and Germany. The ambassador takes with him full knowledge of the German government's position and is prepared to negotiate. The foreign office was asked if in view of the public interest in the United States on this subject the imperial chancellor would not define Germany's attitude with some precision. Prince Von Buelow made the following statement:

"An idea, I suspect, is abroad in America that the changes in the German tariffs and the modifying agreements with other European countries were in some respects directed against the United States and that Germany desired to damage the trade of the United States. This I am glad to say was never a motive with the German government, and the proposals that are about to be made are designed to increase the exchanges between the two countries and not to contract them. Germany is as little inclined to shape its commercial policy according to rigid dogma as the United States. We desire to promote the interests of our country and act in consideration of its economic needs. The old tariff of 1879, with the amendments added to it in the course of time no longer corresponded, in view of the development of Germany's economic life, with our interests. Germany's agriculture in particular suffered in consequence of the treaties of the nineties, whose chief purpose was to win foreign markets. For this reason special attention was given to German agriculture in the new tariffs. That this aim is not hostile to the commercial treaties and can be reconciled with the spirit of consideration for the interests of other countries we have already proved by the negotiations of a series of new commercial conventions.

"A continuation of the present conditions unchanged is not possible if only for the formal reason that our agreement of 1900 with the United States is founded expressly upon tariff duties. Under the old commercial treaties with European nations these duties, in consequence of our new tariff and our new commercial treaties, will be abolished at the end of February, 1906. Thus, the German American agreement will lose its basis when the new tariff goes into effect March 1, next, and therefore, the imperial government is under the necessity of giving notice of the termination of this agreement on March 1. We by no means wish, however, that the present agreement should not be superseded by another arrangement. We have, naturally, a lively wish to reach a new agreement with the United States, and this wish corresponds not only with the friendly political relations of the two peoples, but also with the economic needs of both."

That Delay on the Hospital Building.

The American-Tribune shows how hard pushed it is for material on which to base its campaign of abuse against Mayor Crilly, the Democratic Council and the Board of Public Service in its latest editorial effusion under the caption of "Why the Delay on the Hospital Building." Every Democratic official is assailed and traduced in that article because the proposed city hospital has not been built. And yet the A.-T. printed in its own columns from time to time the reasons for this delay without a word of disapproval. Only two weeks ago the A.-T. printed the facts about it in its report of the Council proceedings, wherein it was shown that the delay is wholly due to the suit pending in the common pleas court to complete the title of the land on the old cemetery site. This is the site on which the people want the hospital built, as the A.-T. very well knows, but the Council at its last meeting thought it would be unwise to proceed with the selling of the bonds, as then advertised, until the question of the title was settled by the court. To show how utterly the A.-T. disregards consistency and truth on this matter, we herewith copy the paper's own report of the Council's proceedings on that occasion in its issue of October 17, which is as follows:

"The members of the Newark Trades and Labor Council are anxious to have a municipal hospital, but if by selecting the old cemetery site a considerable delay will be involved in lawsuits, we would rather not have the bonds sold at this time and have the interest eat up the principal."

Such was the expression of Sam Alsford, representing the Trades' union of the city before the city council last night, when the law committee of the council submitted a report favoring proceeding with the plans for the construction of a municipal hospital upon the site of the old cemetery property at Sixth-Seventh and Church and West Main streets, was under discussion last night.

City Solicitor Phil Smythe addressed the council upon the subject. "Some time ago," he said, "I advised the members of this council they should bring a suit to determine the title of the property. Attorney Jones, in behalf of the heirs to the estate, filed a demurrer. Two weeks ago this suit resulted in a victory for the city, and the case is now on the trial docket of the court."

"I cannot tell when the case will be heard. There are other cases before it, but I believe it will be soon. "The property is divided. The heirs of Harriett B. Crane claim a part of the property, but I cannot find where the other part comes from. The law in the case of abandoned cemeteries which have been deeded to cities is clear. It gives the right to dispose of the property in any way the city desires.

"In that part of the old cemetery claimed by the Crane heirs there is not a single mention of the city's obligation to maintain the cemetery as a cemetery in the deed. There is a mention, however, in the description of the property which says, 'to be used by the city for cemetery purposes and none other.'

"I am satisfied that the city has a good case, but here is no telling what courts will do."

It was at this juncture that Sam Alsford, representing the Newark Trades and Labor Council, was called upon to express an opinion, and he spoke the words quoted above.

A short time later, Councilman Moser introduced a resolution, providing for the discontinuance of the advertising for the sale of the bonds until March, 1906. The resolution was adopted by a unanimous vote of all present.

Here, then, the City Council voted UNANIMOUSLY for the postponement resolution, according to the American-Tribune's own report of the proceedings—every Republican as well as every Democratic member present voting for it. Furthermore, the City Council's action in the matter was approved by the representative of the Newark Trades and Labor Council, who was present on the occasion and spoke upon the subject.

Where, then, is there a particle of reason or excuse for the American-Tribune's attempt to lay any blame for the delay in building the city hospital to any city official? If the Republican organ hopes to make votes for its own candidates by such methods it must have a poor opinion of the intelligence of Newark's voters.

Judge Brister's Just Claims.

Judge E. M. P. Brister, Democratic candidate for Probate Judge, is one of the most worthy and well-qualified candidates on our splendid county ticket. Judge Brister has proved his qualifications for the office by the service he rendered in the first term to which he was elected fifteen years ago. He was always in his office, courteous and attentive to business, and his decisions gave general satisfaction to the bar, and to the public. Judge Brister is worthy of the public support because he has been a faithful and untiring servant of the Democratic party for the past thirty years, and has also been at the call of the public on all kinds of occasions, whenever they needed his service as a public speaker. Judge Brister will not only receive the solid vote of his party, but also many votes from the opposite party, because they feel that he has just claim on the office and will fill it with perfect satisfaction to the public.

To Democrats.

Democrats have a great responsibility in this campaign. If they remain true to principle the voters of Ohio will give a death blow to bossism at the coming election. If any great number of them are deceived by the cunning enemies of good government into bolting their splendid ticket there is danger that bossism will be fastened upon this state so securely as to preclude all efforts at reform for years to come.

It is the bounden duty of every true Democrat to stand by his colors. The Coxites are bending every energy to deceive Democrats. They are attempting to get them to split on little side issues, little temporary matters that really do not enter into the great question involved.

The thing for Democrats to do this fall is to stand solid as a stone wall for their party and their ticket. There is a revolt in the Republican party against bossism and it would be premature folly for any Democrats to permit themselves to be used to help the corrupt bosses out of the hole in which they now find themselves.

Stand by your colors, Democrats. Be true blue!

Mr. Pattison says "no insolent boss shall dictate to us by telephone (referring, of course, to Boss Cox, of Cincinnati). No grafter shall find the atmosphere of the state house congenial to his health and business. Honesty and economy shall govern all our official actions and when we surrender our office to the people we shall have clean hands and clean consciences and you will have a commonwealth once more the pride of a great people."

OPEN LETTER TO GOV. HERRICK

Hon. Myron T. Herrick:

Dear Sir: During the past few months, in common with hundreds of other defenseless Ohio editors, I have been bombarded with "open letters to John M. Pattison," the Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio, signed by Charles W. Dick, chairman of the Republican campaign committee.

It has seemed to me that you have been neglected in this respect, and as nobody else has offered to take the trouble to write you an open letter, I address this one to you.

How many bonds or shares of stock did you subscribe for in the so-called "electric mule" company; of whom did you buy these bonds or stocks and what price per share did you pay for them?

When did you sell these bonds or stocks; to whom did you sell them; and how much per share or bond did you get for them?

When you subscribed for these stocks or bonds, did you know that the "electric mule" company was organized for the purpose of stealing the canals of the state of Ohio and thus enriching the stockholders to the extent of several millions at the expense of the people of the state?

When you came into possession of "electric mule" stock or bonds (if you did), did you know that several thousand shares of this stock had been given to George B. Cox because he was a power in state politics and in return for the stock promised to use his great influence in forcing the "electric mule" legislation through the legislature?

Did you either in person or by representative ask George B. Cox for his support when you were a candidate for governor the first time?

During your term as governor have you made a single appointment in Hamilton county without the recommendation of George B. Cox?

Did you go to Cincinnati last November and in the presence of Wade Ellis, attorney general of Ohio, in the office of George B. Cox, in the Cincinnati Trust Company, discuss with Cox the subject of a renomination for governor?

Did Cox at that time or at any other time before then or since then promise you his support in your fight for a renomination?

Do you believe you could have been nominated without Cox's support?

In your speech last spring, when you OMITTED CINCINNATI from a list of what you called badly governed cities and PUT CLEVELAND in the list, did you honestly believe that Cox government in Cincinnati was better than the free government of Cleveland?

Do you agree or disagree with that great Republican statesman, William H. Taft, that the Cox machine is corrupt, and if you were a citizen of Cincinnati would you vote against the Cox ticket there, as Taft was brave enough to say he would?

Do you approve of the methods now employed by the Cox gang in Cincinnati to swell the Republican plurality there for the state and local tickets by importing thousands of illegal voters from across the river in Kentucky?

Have you as governor of the state, under oath to enforce the laws of the state, taken steps to ascertain whether this charge of wholesale pollution of the franchise in Cincinnati is true?

Do you not conceive it to be your duty both as governor and as a citizen of this state to make such investigation. ESPECIALLY AS THE CHARGE HAS BEEN MADE AND IS HERE REPEATED THAT YOU AS A CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR ARE TO PROFIT BY THIS ILLEGAL VOTING?

This letter is being published today in The Cleveland Press, The Cincinnati Post, The Toledo News-Bee, The Columbus Citizen, The Akron Press and The Toledo Times—the Ohio papers of the Scripps-McRae League, having over a million readers in Ohio. Your answers to any or all of these questions will be published in all of these papers if received by me before Friday, November 3.

(Signed) H. N. RICKEY,
Editor-in-Chief Scripps-McRae League of Ohio.

Mr. Crawford's Superior Qualifications

The Democratic party and the people of Licking county never had a better opportunity to elect an ideal County Commissioner than at this election, in the person of James M. Crawford, Democratic candidate for County Commissioner. In the first place Mr. Crawford is thoroughly honest, and would not waste or squander a penny of the people's money. In the second place he is thoroughly competent for the office in every respect, being a first-class and successful business man and possessing great executive ability. When he takes his place as Commissioner he will be a real commissioner, and he will not be led around by the nose by anybody. Neither will he have any pets or favorites in the distribution of the county's work, but everything will be done strictly according to law and in the best interests of the taxpayers. The people of Licking county will make the greatest mistake they ever made if they do not elect Mr. Crawford Commissioner on the 7th of November.

Secretary of War Taft drove the nails into Herrick's political coffin by his great speech at Akron, and Congressman Webber clinched the nails by his open letter to Governor Herrick last Saturday.

If the American-Tribune would look up the City Council records when the present salaries of the city officials were fixed it would find that the same were adopted by practically a unanimous vote of that body. Every Republican member of the Council supported the ordinance fixing those salaries, and the only opposition came from a Democratic member. The A.-T.'s criticism on the salary question, however, brings out a fact of great interest to the people of our growing and prosperous city at this time. This fact is that the Democratic Board of Public Service has managed Newark's affairs in such an able and efficient manner as to pay all the increased salaries provided under the new municipal code without increasing the city's rate of taxation. The rate has been kept down remarkably low under the circumstances, and none of the city's necessary improvements have been neglected.

Secretary Taft spoke from personal knowledge of the wretched condition in his home city of Cincinnati due to the control of the Cox political machine. The secretary did not get his information from Lincoln Steffens who wrote in his magazine article that Cincinnati was the worst governed city in the country and Cleveland the best governed.

Mr. Holtz the Candidate of the People.

The peurile efforts of the "A.-T." to injure Mr. C. L. V. Holtz because he is qualified for the position of County Treasurer through having been Deputy Treasurer two terms, will fall to the ground. The "A.-T." knows and the public knows that Mr. Holtz is the Democratic candidate for County Treasurer today simply because of his ability and his popularity. He was not nominated by any ring or clique in a little convention composed of a few delegates as his Republican opponent was, but Mr. Holtz was nominated in an open election by the people, in which every Democrat in the county had a right to vote. He was nominated therefore, by the people, and he is the candidate of the people. It is as contemptible as it is unwarranted for the "A.-T." to smirch Mr. Holtz because he happens to be better qualified than his opponent for the office by reason of having served as deputy. Some deputies have been nominated for office, and some deputies have failed for nomination for office. Any Democrat in the county had a right to contest with Mr. Holtz for the nomination for Treasurer, which fact is not true of his Republican opponent, who is the candidate of a little star-chamber clique. We repeat, Mr. Holtz is the candidate of the people, and the people will elect him.

COLUMBUS MEN

Walk 32 Miles to Buckeye Lake Park in Seven Hours, But Took Trolley Back Home.

Columbus, Oct. 31.—What is claimed as the amateur pedestrian record of Columbus, was made Sunday, by Percy S. Truesdell, superintendent of the Snyder & Chaffee Confectionary company, and Chris Markey, secretary to Congressman Harvey Garber. The young men are athletically inclined and have been doing considerable track work during the past few weeks, but have not hitherto attempted anything as ambitious as that which they successfully accomplished during Sunday morning and forenoon.

Buckeye Lake was their objective point and they left the Neil House at 6 o'clock Sunday morning. Not a stop was made for rest or dinner until the lake was reached at five minutes of 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. The distance is something over 32 miles and in view of their record their friends are claiming that they hold the half day walking record.

The return trip was made by trolley and at 2-30 the young men were back at the starting point in Columbus.

LAWYERS QUIT THE HARRIS CASE

MATRIMONIAL SUIT DISMISSED WITHOUT PREJUDICE BY JUSTICE LAKE.

Attorney Wayne Collier Asked to Have Matter Dropped When Action Was Called Tuesday.

The case brought against George Howard Harris by one Mildred Harris of Rochester, N. Y., who claims she is his wife, in which he is charged with living unlawfully with Bertha Harris, was dismissed by "Squire Lake" Tuesday morning upon application of the complainant's attorney, Wayne Collier, and Harris was released. When asked for his reason for so abruptly dropping the case Mr. Collier said: "Mr. S. L. James and I have withdrawn from the case and are no longer counsel for Mildred Harris. We can't afford to work for nothing." The action was dismissed without prejudice to the bringing of any future suit.

Card from W. S. Pace.

Newark, Ohio, Oct. 31, 1905. In answer to a statement circulated by Stone Cutters' Union will say: "Provision put in specifications that stone be shipped to Newark in the rough, is unconstitutional." After knowing this clause to be illegal, I gave stone cutters a fair chance by having stone shipped to Newark in the rough for Stanberry street. On this street their work proved to be unsatisfactory in workmanship, time and expense, that I was compelled to change my order to quarries to dressed stone. In regard to contract being awarded to me, I was lowest legal bidder and was entitled to it. Stone was not cut by scab cutters at the Amherst quarries, as all work done there is by first class union labor. The practical stone cutter who was hired to inspect my work, did not condemn stone because it was improperly dressed, but because it was not dressed in Newark. Favors were not shown me, inasmuch as I have saved the citizens of Newark one-fifth according to former prices paid. Any further reference to the above will be ignored by,

Freight Wreck on Rock Island Road in Which Five People Lost Their Lives.

Des Moines, Ia., Oct. 31.—Five persons were killed in a head-on collision between two freight trains on the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific railroad at Casey, Ia. The dead: Fireman Ed Nelson; Engineer Bert Shields; Fireman William Marshall; Brakeman Frank Johns, all of Valley Junction, Ia.; Rev. F. W. Caldwell, Van Meter, Ia. Both trains were badly wrecked and engines piled up into heaps of scrap iron. The wreck was caused by a misunderstanding of orders by the crew of the westbound freight.

MOLTEN METAL

Spilled Into Forest McIntyre's Shoe at Wehrle's Foundry, Burning Foot Badly.

Forest McIntyre, a molder apprentice at the Wehrle stove plant, met with a very painful and serious accident while at work in the foundry. He was engaged in pouring off metal when his ladle struck against a flask, the molten iron splashing in all directions, some of it running into one of his shoes, badly burning the foot about the ankle and heel. He was taken to his home, 328 North Fourth street, where he will be confined for some time on account of his injury.

MARKS INDICATE YOUTH WAS TIED

THE CORONER OF KNOX COUNTY FINDS MYSTERIOUS WOUNDS ON PIERSON'S BODY.

Right Hand Torn Out of Socket at the Wrist—Thorough Investigation to be Made by Officers.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 31.—Coroner Scarborough of Mt. Vernon, O., and Detectives Crim and Kunfers of this city, examined the body of young Stuart L. Pierson, the Kenyon college student who was killed by a Cleveland, Akron, and Columbus train at Gambier last Saturday night.

After the examination here Coroner Scarborough said that young Pierson was on the bridge over the Kokosing river, waiting to be initiated into the Delta Kappa Epsilon, a Greek college fraternity, when he was struck by a train and instantly killed. The coroner says he found marks on the arms and legs and on the body, indicating that the boy had been tied to the railroad track, and thus met his death. The right hand at the wrist was torn from the socket and a narrow bruise encircled the wrist, as if it was caused by the pressure of a cord or a small rope. Similar wounds were on the ankle and the left foot.

Coroner Scarborough refused to say whether young Pierson was tied to the track by the members of the college fraternity, but declared that he would thoroughly investigate the matter. He left for his home late last night.

Mt. Vernon, O., Oct. 31.—Relative to the death of Stuart Pierson, the Kenyon college student, who was alleged to have been tied to the railroad track at Gambier Saturday night, Prosecutor L. C. Stillwell said today:

"I expect to thoroughly investigate the cause of Pierson's death and should I find sufficient evidence, the guilty parties will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law. I shall bring a large number of students before the grand jury which convenes November 13, and should I find sufficient evidence a charge of manslaughter will be placed against all persons connected with the affair."

Coroner Scarborough returned this morning from Cincinnati where he conducted an examination over Pierson's body. He said: "I found the circumstances to warrant me in making a most rigid examination in the case and I shall proceed at once to do this."

Pierson was to be initiated into a fraternity and it has been said he was tied to the railroad track. However, his father, who came here from Cincinnati, disbelieves this.

RAD CATARRH

FOR FIFTEEN YEARS AND DREAD-ED CONSUMPTION.

Mr. Arthur Gaul of Wellsville, Ohio, writes: "I wish every one suffering from catarrh or bronchial troubles knew the value of Vinol as I do. Before taking it I had catarrh for fifteen years, and for the last year I had a pain in my lungs and coughed night and day, which caused me to lose flesh. I felt sure I was going into consumption, as nothing seemed to help me."

"Vinol was recommended, and after taking four bottles I am entirely cured. I would not take $1,000 for the good it has done me. I wish I could persuade everybody who suffers from catarrh and bronchial troubles, or who dreads consumption, to try Vinol."

"To further convince the people of Newark in regard to the value of Vinol, I, Frank D. Hall, declare it to be the most valuable preparation of cod liver oil for all wasting diseases, the greatest health restorer and strength creator for the weak, the convalescent and the aged which I have ever sold. I can only ask every person in Newark to try Vinol on my guarantee to return their money if it fails. This is a fair, honest offer on which you cannot lose." Frank D. Hall, Druggist.

IT IS FOR LADIES, TOO.

They Can Stop Their Hair Falling Out With Herpicide.

Ladies who have thin hair and whose hair is falling out, can prevent the hair falling out, and thicken the growth, with Newbro's "Herpicide." Besides, Herpicide is one of the most agreeable hair dressings there is. Herpicide kills the dandruff germ that eats the hair off at the root. After the germ is destroyed, the root will shoot up, and the hair grow long as ever. Even a sample will convince any lady that Newbro's Herpicide is an indispensable toilet requisite. It contains no oil or grease. It will not stain the hair. Sold by leading druggists. Send for a sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

ALL DAY MEETING HELD AT TAYLOR HALL CLOSING TUESDAY NIGHT.

President of National Association Addressed Gathering Tuesday Morning—Prominent Men.

The Good Roads Convention held under the auspices of the Licking County Association opened in Taylor Hall Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock, and closes with an evening session.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. I. N. Palmer, who acted as chairman, and the invocation was pronounced by Rev. L. S. Boyce, which was followed by addresses of welcome, on behalf of the city by Mayor A. J. Crilly, on behalf of the county by Judge W. A. Irvine, while F. M. Black welcomed the visitors on behalf of the Board of Trade.

After these formalities, Col. W. H. Moore, president of the National Good Roads Association addressed the meeting and gave valuable pointers as to the manner of organizing the Licking County Association, as well as giving a history of the movement for better highways, which in the last fifteen years has become of national importance, and has commanded the attention of Congress.

He stated that there were state associations in 40 states of the Union, and that in a short time the others would also fall in line.

Col. Moore stated that the National Association had for its object three things: First, to agitate the question; second, to teach how to build roads with the material at hand; third, to teach how to raise the money for this purpose.

He said that the Association had built many miles of roads in various parts of the United States, stretches being built here and there as samples, and in every case this was followed up by the construction of many miles along the same lines as laid down.

The speaker said that the institutions of learning throughout the United States were awakening to the importance of teaching the methods of road building, and cited Ohio State and Cornell Universities, which had installed road departments.

"Let me tell you," said Col. Moore, "this matter concerns the manufacturer and merchant of the city just as much as it does the farmer. It has been an erroneous idea that good roads benefited the farmer alone, and heretofore he is the one who has been looked to, to keep up the highways. Organize today, keep in touch with your state organization, and through it with the National Association, and in a very short time state and national legislation will result which will be the means of rescuing the public highways from 'King Mud.'"

Col. Moore suggested that the students of Denison University be extended a special invitation to attend the meeting tonight.

Col. T. P. Rixey of Missouri, lecturer for the National Association was called upon and made a few remarks before the noon recess.

Dr. Palmer appointed as a committee on resolutions, Prof. J. L. Gilpatrick, W. S. Graham and Cary Montgomery.

Permanent organization: O. C. Larson, O. P. Sook, J. P. Lamb, Arthur Wyeth and T. C. Jarry.

A pleasing feature of the day was the singing of a chorus of 40 children. There were a number of samples of material for road construction on the platform, which Col. W. H. Moore and Engineer Blackburn of Texas, pronounced the best that they had yet seen in Ohio. Most of the samples came from Flint Ridge.

Dr. Palmer called the session to order at 2:05 and announced that the first speaker would be Prof. Frank Carney of Granville. Prof. Carney spoke of material at hand for road building and was followed by Hon. W. Bradburn of Texas of 4 years' experience as an engineer.

A fund of $225 to defray the expenses of this meeting and for other purposes was subscribed by the following well known business men:

BROWNLOW-LATIMER GOOD ROADS BILL

Will be Introduced at Coming Session of Congress—Two Objections are Raised to Federal Aid.

This bill which provides for National aid to good-roads construction, and which would have been passed in the 58th Congress but for lack of time, will be offered again in the Senate and House as soon as Congress convenes in December. There have so far been but two objections made to Federal aid. One was that it was not constitutional to appropriate money for flat purposes. That contention fell flat. It was constitutional sixty years ago, when the idea of internal improvement was more unpopular than now, and when the Government did build roads. Congress has in recent years appropriated money to build roads in Porto Rico and the Philippines. If it is constitutional to build them in those possessions it is certainly constitutional to aid in building them in the States. But this is thrashing old straw; there is nothing to the adverse contention. The other objection is that Federal aid would destroy local interest in road building, and that the people will soon depend upon the National government to build their highways. Happily, the proposed Brownlow-Latimer bill, which appropriates $24,000,000, to be expended not to exceed $8,000,000 a year, meets this objection by providing that no part of the appropriation shall go to any State or subdivision thereof that does not appropriate an equal sum to that allotted by the Government. The history of road building proves that whenever a State has built or aided an improved road the people take a new and greater pride and deeper interest in the raising of means to further the work, so that Federal aid would stimulate rather than discourage local assistance. There are many reasons why the government should aid the building of good roads. If it is right to spend hundreds of millions for rivers and harbors, why not right to spend a few millions for the highways—the primary factors in commerce?

The rivers and harbors benefit the cities chiefly. Why have not the rural districts an equal right to be helped? They constitute nearly half of our population and pay about 60 per cent of all the taxes. They build our cities, export 85 per cent of all our products and create most of our wealth, and yet they receive less than one-half of 1 per cent of Federal appropriations. The Brownlow-Latimer bill proposes to give back to the farmers a little of the blessings of government that they do so much to sustain, and if the farmers of the United States will only exercise their right, and demand the passage of this bill, Congress will act during its coming term. It is up to the people. Get from your U. S. Senator a copy of Senate Document No. 201, 58th Congress, 2d session, also write to Hon. W. F. Brownlow, Washington, D. C. for a copy of his Good Roads bill.

AMUSEMENTS

BIG HEARTED JIM.

One of the most meritorious plays of the new season, the new melodrama comedy written by William L. Roberts for George Kilmi and entitled "Big Hearted Jim," is announced to be here tomorrow afternoon and night, and it should arouse special interest for the popular star has never had a better play and so excellent a character both for general commendation to the public and for showing his remarkable versatility. In an intensely American play, of the deepest and most genuine interest, Mr. Kilmi enacts a part that ought to stir the manhood and loyalty of every one who sees it. The scenes are typical of the great west, and among the figures that come and go are the pretty school teacher, who has lost her heart to Jim and won his, a Montana diamond named Liddy, a pioneer of '50, the stage driver over the Great Divide, Triska, the Indian maiden and heiress, Silas from St. Louis, the stranger from Chicago, who knows the pretty school teacher's secret, being the man who deceived her with a mock marriage, Bess, a western wild flower, and miners, frontiersmen, Indians and school children. Two of the acts are in a stockade yard and bristle with incidents, including a threatened Indian outbreak. The entire play is as full of rich humor as it is of romance and Messrs. Kilmi and Gazzalo, the owners and managers, have equipped it scenically in their usual thorough and excellent manner. Auditorium, matinee and night, Nov. 1.

PAUL GILMORE.

"Captain Debonnaire." Paul Gilmore's widely heralded new play, in which that gifted young star will appear at the Auditorium on Saturday, matinee and night, is a spectacular comedy romance in five acts written by William Farquhar Payson and James MacArthur, using Mr. Payson's popular novel, "Debonnaire," as a basis. Mr. MacArthur will be remembered as dramatist of "Beside the Bonnie Brier Bush." Mr. Payson's story tells how Captain Louis de Cadillac, of the regiment of Carignan-Salieres, stationed at Quebec, went to New Amsterdam (New York) in 1675 under the incognito of Louis le Debonnaire to woo and win a beautiful girl he had never seen and who was betrothed already to Syboul, Van Brugh, attorney general of the Dutch provinces. How the impetuosity of the French cavalier won over the calm and immovable determination of his Dutch rival makes a story that is alternately belligerent and humorous and always active and romantic.

Y. M. C. A. ENTERTAINMENTS.

The members of the Y. M. C. A. and patrons of the Association Entertainment Course are reminded that the tickets for the season are selling rapidly. By next week Friday, when the seats are reserved, the entire lower floor will be sold. It behooves all who desire the best seats, therefore, to buy early, this week if possible.

No finer array of talent has ever been offered in Newark. The prices, too, are very reasonable. A down stairs seat, reserved for the season for $2, in the balcony $1.50. That the course is not run for financial gain is evident from the fact that for three years past the course has cost the association more than the receipts from the sale of tickets.

The course is put on as one of the association's educational features. If the friends of the association will keep this in mind the sale of seats will surely not lag.

IN A GALE

President Roosevelt Ends Last Leg of Journey to Washington.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 31.—After fighting a northeast gale up the coast for 24 hours, the fierceness of the wind and sea causing a wide divergence from the usual route, the armored cruiser West Virginia, bearing President Roosevelt from New Orleans, passed in Cape Henry, conveyed by the armored cruisers Maryland, Pennsylvania and Colorado. The president was transferred to the United States dispatch boat Dolphin and aboard that vessel left Wolftrap light on the last leg of his journey to Washington.

Money Order Clerk's Deed.

Auburn, Ga., Oct. 31.—Edward C. Bearden money order clerk in the postoffice here, committed suicide after being asked by an inspector to turn over his cash drawer and books for examination. Ten minutes before shooting himself Bearden was in excellent spirits, laughing and joking. When asked for the money drawer he passed it to Inspector Wilson, turned to the safe took a pistol from a pigeon hole, went to the third story of the building and blew out his brains. No shortage in his accounts has yet been discovered according to the statement of the inspector.

Last Hope Vanished.

When leading physicians said that W. M. Smith, of Pekin, Ia., had incurable consumption, his last hope vanished; but Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, and Colds kept him out of his grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me, and saved my life. Since then, I have used it for over 10 years, and consider it a marvelous throat and lung cure." Strictly scientific cure for Coughs, Sore Throats or Colds; sure preventive of Pneumonia. Guaranteed 50c and $1.00 bottles at Hall's Drug Store. Trial bottles free.

HIGH GRADE OF WORK DEMANDED BY FACULTY WILL PURIFY SPORTS

—Dr. Colwell.

Denison Takes a Firm Stand for Cleaner Athletics in Ohio Colleges—Students Can Bring About Change Which Faculty Can Not—Would Place High Moral Standard for Athletes.

Prof. R. S. Colwell of Denison University, chairman of the board of control of that school, who has been quoted from time to time in the Advocate, writes a Cleveland paper on his views on the question of clean athletics. The letter is in part printed below. It shows the stand taken by Denison in the fight for clean athletics. Dr. Colwell says:

"It must be admitted, I think, that the athletic situation generally among our colleges is a very bad one, and I do not see any immediate prospect of any radical improvement in it. So far as I can learn practically all the faculties want clean athletics among the students, and would bring it about if they could, but they fail. In my judgment they will continue to fail so long as they work along the present lines. I do not think that the 'Big Six' rules or the rules of the Western Conference, or any other rules ever have been or ever will be enforced. I do not think that they can be enforced.

"The real difficulty is with the moral, or rather, immoral, standard among the students interested in athletics. When we can have that standard, and what it ought to be, we can have clean athletics. Until we can create that correct moral situation, all of these attempts to create clean athletics by elaborate rules and complicated machinery to enforce the rules, will fail, as they are failing now. When the body of students interested in athletics want clean athletics, athletics will be clean. They can bring it about as faculties can not. In my judgment, the duties of the faculties in this matter is very simple. It is simply to hold every student engaged in athletics to a good grade of scholarship, and be unyielding about it. The number of 'professionals' who can maintain a high grade in their studies is so small that they would be a negligible quantity. It seems absurd that it should be thought necessary that so many professors from so many colleges should spend so much time in elaborating rules and means of enforcing them in an endeavor to accomplish something which can be accomplished by the students themselves, or not at all.

"It is my opinion, then, that just two things are necessary to secure clean athletics. These are a high moral standard enforced by the students, and a high grade of work enforced by the faculties. What these two things can not do for clean athletics will not be done. I am not impractical enough to think that this will at once produce absolutely clean athletics, but I do think that it will produce infinitely better results than the utterly impractical methods now in use, and do more than any other method to create that high sense of honor which is now so sadly lacking in college athletics."

R. S. COLWELL, Chairman of Board of Control, Denison University.

MUTES HERE

Saturday in Game With the Newark A. A.—Coschoon Won Saturday Game by Hard Work.

The Newark Athletic association will play the football eleven representing the D. & D. institute of Columbus in this city next Saturday afternoon. The Newark boys were defeated at Coschoon Saturday the score being 12 to 0. Their defeat Saturday was from the lack of practice and an effort will be made this week to get the team into good shape for the Saturday game here. A return engagement will no doubt be arranged with the Coschoon team.

All the players with the Newark team are requested to meet on the grounds in East Newark Wednesday night for practice.

BASKET BALL

Will Now Receive Attention of High School Lads—Football Team is Too Light.

The High school football eleven will play but one more game this season. Such is the decision reached by the athletic association last week.

Manager Beecher has advised with the High school faculty and the decision was reached that the team was too light to make a good showing against most of the teams on the high school schedule. It was decided, therefore, to play a return engagement with the Zanesville High school here on Thanksgiving day.

The students will now devote their energies to the perfecting of their basketball team and be in readiness for the opening of the season. A strong schedule is being prepared and a good showing will be made. Marion, Delaware, Marysville, East, Central and North of Columbus, besides many other schools have been booked for basketball games. Denison's first team will play against the locals in the opening game.

A Frightful Suicide.

London, Oct. 31.—Jacob Fisher, of W. 1st Ave., is dying today of self-inflicted wounds unique in suicide annals. Taking a large butcher knife, Fisher, who is a mason's mail, hammered the big blade into his abdomen, making a frightful wound.

boys. All cases reported tonight will be prosecuted and no opportunity will be given to repair the damage.

Three young girls, daughters of prominent families, were also victims of the vigilance of the police. A bottle was thrown through the window of a house at 58 East Church street, and these girls were called before Chief Sheridan and required to settle for the damage.

Fifty extra policemen will be on duty tonight and none of the depredations which usually accompany the Halloween celebration, will go unpunished.

The Thrifty McCurdys

Personality of the Men Who Rule the Mutual Life

Princely Incomes Drawn by the World's Highest Salaried Insurance Official and Members of His Family -- How They Live in Regal Style in New Jersey

Nearly a half million dollars a year! That is what the insurance investigation revealed to be the income of the McCurdy family from the Mutual Life. It is more than suspected that, stupendous as this amount is, it does not tell all the story, for there are a large number of subsidiary concerns connected with the Mutual from which such a thrifty family might extract further revenue, and from the indications they are not just the sort of people who would overlook chances of that kind. Some interested people have figured on the probabilities and estimate that in the last twenty years the McCurdys have taken out of the Mutual and related companies at least $15,000,000. Yet the head of the clan McCurdy has often said that mutual insurance is a benevolence, a philanthropic, missionary enterprise, as it were. It should be all that. But it seems that under the right sort of manipulation benevolence and philanthropy can be made to pay. While providing for the policy holders after death, they can also be made to bring in not unhandsome returns to the insurance officials during life. Great is benevolence, especially the kind that is kept in the family.

Highest Salaried Insurance Official.

To analyze this income more in detail, there is Richard A. McCurdy, the president of the Mutual, who receives you vice president of the Mutual. Upon the recovery of his wife he made good that promise.

'A Good Provider For His Own.

There is likewise a human tale, with a tinge of the romantic, in connection with Son-in-law Thebaud. The possessor of that name, by the way, pronounces it Tar-bo, with the accent strongly on the first syllable. It appears that originally the McCurdys were not favorable to annexing Thebaud to the family—that is, they were all unfavorable except the daughter, Gertrude, and she was enthusiastically favorable. The upshot of the whole matter was an elopement and a marriage in a Roman Catholic church in New York. One of the objections to the young man, by the way, was that he was a Catholic, while the McCurdys were prominently identified with the Episcopal church. There was only a half hearted forgiveness at first, the new son-in-law being taken on probation, as it were. He was put at work in a Newark (N. J.) office of the Mutual at $50 per month. Later the elder Thebaud called on the elder McCurdy, and a full reconciliation was effected. Being now a member of the clan in good standing the son-in-law must share in the Mutual bounties. What ever may be said of the senior McCurdy, no one has ever charged that he is

was one of the most successful general agents of the Mutual. He had made a great mark in the central west and was then placed in charge of the southern field. While there for some unexplained reason he began a secret campaign against the McCurdys. He charged nepotism, extravagance and general disregard of the policy holders' interests. For one thing he said that son Robert was raking $250,000 annually out of the foreign field. As a result, Bowles was fired. Then he began a campaign in the open to oust the McCurdy management. To do this he gathered policy holders' proxies from all over the country. It was at about this time that the $35,000 payment was made to Mr. Bowles, and the war suddenly stopped. There have been various intimations that the amount he received was much larger. Rumor says that it ran all the way from a half million to a million. However that may be, Mr. Bowles retired and is now said to own more than $1,000,000 worth of property, most of it in the south.

Richard A. McCurdy is past seventy years old. His father before him was connected with the Mutual Life company. The son was graduated from Yale and studied law, beginning the practice in New York city. Soon after he was made attorney for the Mutual Life. After a few years in this position he was made vice president temporarily until a permanent man could be found. The permanent man was found in McCurdy himself. As he expressed it in his testimony, he "got the halter about his neck and never could break it." After a long term as vice president he was promoted to the presidency of the company, first at $30,000 a year and afterward advanced gradually to the present figure.

Does Not Mix With the Four Hundred.

He is not a social man. He does not mix with the Four Hundred. He has managed to keep out of the public prints all his life—that is, until recently. It has been his boast that he could walk all the way down town in New York, from his Fifth avenue residence to his office, and not be recognized once. It has seemed to be his desire to surround himself with mystery and secrecy. A lawyer recently described an attempt to reach President McCurdy personally as a very discouraging and tedious experience. When at last he did succeed in gaining access to the highest salaried insurance man in the world he found that functionary in an elegantly furnished office, seated on a $2,000 chair, in the middle of a $12,000 rug and before a $5,000 desk, on which was not a scrap of paper or other sign of vulgar labor. How the lawyer knew the prices of these different articles he did not explain, but it is a good story anyway. Mr. McCurdy testified that he did not know the price of these furnishings.

McCurdy is like a king in the Mutual. He has practically unlimited power. He speaks habitually of it as "my" company, refers to its officers as "my" officers and the agents as "my" agents. He has never designated the assets as "my" assets so far as known. But, then, he has no need to do so. There are means of conveying a meaning of that sort other than speech.

Their Real Homes in New Jersey.

Both Mr. McCurdy and his son have New York houses, but these are not particularly ostentatious, nor is much time spent in them. The real homes of both are in New Jersey. At Morristown the elder McCurdy has one of the finest country places in the land, and here he lives and here he is in the very cream of the exclusive society of that summer home of millionaires. Son-in-law Thebaud also has a fine new house at Morristown, and son Robert has an equally fine mansion at Morris Plains, the next station. Here the McCurdy clan has literally regal estates, where they ride to hounds after the most approved English fashion. Mr. Thebaud is especially fond of riding and hunting.

It is not generally known that the elder McCurdy is a poet, but such is the fact. He recently had some verse in the Independent, and it is not bad verse either. In it frequently occurs the word "alas." Just why the monarch of the Mutual should use such a doleful term is not apparent. Now, if the policy holders were writing poetry they might say "alas" with some propriety. But they are not. Most of them doubtless are too busy.

J. A. EDGERTON.

Religion in the Workshops.

The Presbyterian department of church and labor is about to begin a series of regular non-day religious services in shops and factories throughout the United States, says the Chicago Tribune. Superintendent Charles Steble of the Chicago office will direct the movement through representatives appointed in 250 centers, who in turn will lead the men in the territory which has been assigned to them. "If the workmen do not go to church we must take the gospel to him," Mr. Steble said.

A Song of Golden Leaves.

How the wind is tossing the leaves of autumn down! With that they were swept gold—'I'd send a leaf to you. The children's eyes would open wider, 'twould seem to stand an altar. I'd hire a divine, railroad train and ride 'em to the fair. When I see the trees give all they've got to make the land look new, 't's like a lesson to the right: it tells 'em what to do. There's ever enough, would brighter at the twinkling of the gold. An' they'd all say, 'I've a blessing than the arms of them could hold. So I'm wishing we could coin all the autumn's gold and make warm furcoats in red homes for little children's sake. Take a leaf from them, they'd give you gold 'em everywhere. An' pile 'em in a railroad train and ride 'em to the fair. Atlanta Constitution.

The "Yellow Dog" Fund.

There were very many interesting things brought out in the testimony. One was that various sums of money had been paid out to the local department, for which no purpose was assigned. It has been charged that these were for what is known as the "yellow dog" fund, intended for influencing legislation and the like. Another was that since 1894 the sum of $82,500 had been paid to the Republican national and congressional committees. Still another and most sensational of all was that $35,000 had been paid to Thomas H. Bowles. Back of this Bowles payment is a story. Most of the story will never be told perhaps, but some of it has leaked out. Thomas H. Bowles

HORSES FIGHT TO THE DEATH

KETTLE OF PAINT EXPLODES AT BELLEFONTAINE WITH HORRIBLE RESULTS.

Ohio Postoffice Robbed This Morning. Advocate Dispatches Giving General News of Ohio.

Coshocton, O., Oct. 31.—In a fight lasting two hours, two German stallions owned by Jos. Lumm, a wealthy stock breeder of this county, tore and trampled each other one was killed. In an effort to separate them Frank Gray, a hostler, was badly injured by the infuriated animals. Both horses are blooded. One horse was killed and the other was fatally torn and bruised.

Fatally Burned by Paint.

Bellefontaine, Oct. 31.—Mrs. William Rubel is dead and her son, John, fatally burned, and two daughters are seriously injured as a result of an explosion of a kettle of roof paint which John was heating on the kitchen stove. The hot paint completely covered Mrs. Rubel and she died in terrible agony from burns received. The house was saved with difficulty.

Ohio Postoffice Robbed.

Huntington, W. Va., Oct. 31.—The Proctorville, Ohio, postoffice was burglarized last night. The safe was dynamited and $100 in money and several hundred dollars in stamps secured.

Overdose of Cough Medicine.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 31.—An overdose of cough syrup is supposed to be responsible for the sudden death of the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kock of Cumminsville. The little one, having been given a dose of the medicine by her mother was apparently entranced with its sweet taste and contrived to reach the bottle standing by the cradle side and sipped the entire contents.

Boiler-makers Out.

Lima, O., Oct. 31.—By order of Grand President Dunn of the Boiler-makers' union all boiler-makers and helpers, 75 in number, employed in the Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton railroad shops here were called out. The cause of the strike is the old Erie trouble at the Huntington, Ind., shops, it being planned that the Erie boiler-makers would be sent from those shops here.

Boys Shot by Farmer.

Portsmouth, O., Oct. 31.—Wesley Tinsley and Walter McElhany, aged 16, were shot and seriously wounded by William Kellum, a prominent farmer. The boys were hunting on the latter's farm when Kellum opened fire boys were badly wounded about the head and breast and are in a serious condition.

Imbecile's Sad Fate.

Columbus, O., Oct. 31.—While wandering about the grounds of the Institution for the Feeble Minded Thomas Phillips, 35, an inmate of the institution for 21 years, was burned to death through his clothing catching fire from a pile of burning leaves. Phillips' parents live in Cleveland.

Chinese Girl Ran Away.

Dayton, O., Oct. 31.—Louise Young, 11, daughter of William Young, a Chinaman, who disappeared suddenly, was located in Buffalo, where she formerly lived. The money given the girl to purchase a box was used for railroad fare. Louise refused to reside with her father.

Boy Swallows Acid.

Cincinnati, O., Oct. 31.—In a fit of emotional excitement, due to the return of his father from a trip to Europe, Clifford Grew, 17, son of William J. Grew, hotel keeper, drained the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid and died after three hours in terrible agony.

Crushed to Death by a Colt.

Marion, O., Oct. 31.—Caught between a manger and a colt, Frank, 13, son of Frank B. Landon, a farmer, was so badly crushed that he died. A brother of the boy entered the barn in the rear, frightening the colt and causing it to leap forward.

Thirty Hours in a Well.

Gallipolis, O., Oct. 31.—Mrs. James Franks, wife of a wealthy farmer of this county, jumped into a well 35 feet deep and remained there 30 hours before found. No bones were broken and she will recover.

Safe Wrecked by Robbers.

Norwalk, O., Oct. 31.—The safe of Hoover & Prout at Avery was blown open by burglars. The safe was blown to pieces and a $600 check, $10 or $15 in postage stamps and $50 in cash were taken.

Warehouse Burns.

A Patent Medicine Talk

Readers of such leading magazines, as the "Ladies' Home Journal" and "Collier's Weekly" must have noticed recently many articles relative to patent medicines.

The editors of these magazines are seeking to bring about by legislation and agitation, what they choose to call a reform in the patent medicine business. They make the statement that it is not only unsafe, but unwise, and in many cases destructive of health, for people to purchase and consume patent medicines the ingredients of which they have no knowledge.

It is not our purpose to enter into a discussion of the merits or demerits of this agitation or crusade. Thousands of people have used patent medicines and have been benefited by them. At the same time there are undoubtedly evils existing in the ABUSE of some so-called patent medicines. Because you have a thief in your neighborhood you would not say the whole neighborhood is composed of thieves. We know that we have plenty of customers at our counters who tell our clerks what benefit they derive from this or that preparation.

Yet even with this knowledge it is hard for us to say what one among the patent medicines is the "neighborhood black-leg." The unfortunate part of our position is that we do not know the formulas of the patent medicines we sell. We do not believe that the proprietors of patent medicines are dishonest or that they are intentionally misrepresenting their products. If we did we would certainly refuse to sell their goods over our counter.

Our exact position in this patent medicine agitation is this: We are the servants of the public. We sell and will continue to sell patent medicines just the same as the grocer sells you canned corn or potatoes. We want our patrons to find in our stock just what they demand, only we can positively say that at any time we find a medicine is injurious we will throw it out of our store.

Several years ago, a thousand of the leading druggists throughout the United States organized themselves together in a co-operative company to produce remedies which they could back up with their own names and their own reputations.

The first object of this co-operative company was to produce a line of remedies that every druggist would know thoroughly. There were to be no secret formulas; the ingredients of every remedy would be known to every druggist.

Each of these thousand druggists contributed to the organization all that his knowledge and experience had brought to him in the way of advice as to different remedies. The formulas of something like 2,000 or more remedies were sent to the company. A committee of experts was appointed and this committee went over the various formulas conscientiously and earnestly for a long period of time and selected from the entire list about 200 standard remedies, the manufacture of which the company then undertook.

The company in the meantime had erected a perfect laboratory—large, well-appointed, with every appliance known to modern skill. The combined capital of a thousand druggists made it possible for the company to purchase in the largest quantities, the fundamental drugs and herbs, etc., that form the ingredients of the various remedies.

This meant not only the highest quality in manufacture, but the very greatest economy—the cutting out of every wasteful item and every unnecessary expense.

The remedies when manufactured were shipped directly from the laboratory to the retail druggists. This insured their freshness and made it impossible for their quality to deteriorate. Not only that, but it also did away with the jobbers' profit. Here again the co-operative system added not only quality but brought about economy.

Most of our patrons are familiar with these facts. Most of them are already acquainted with the formulas of Rexall Remedies which are manufactured by the United Drug Co., with laboratory and principal offices in Boston, Mass. These are the remedies and this is the co-operative company that we believe has done more to bring about a change in patent medicine conditions than any other element in existence.

Each of the Rexall druggists know absolutely what each Rexall remedy contains. He has the formula of each remedy on file in his safe. He will gladly give it to anyone who is interested. There is nothing secret about any of the Rexall formulas. On the contrary, we are thoroughly proud of them. We want you to know about them.

No one Rexall remedy is a "cure-all." It is not necessary for us to invent diseases and symptoms and then endeavor to convince you that one Rexall remedy will cure you of every ailment in the world. To our minds that has been one of the fundamental errors of patent medicine manufacturers, and that has been corrected by the Rexall people. One remedy for each ill, and that remedy the unquestioned best in the world, is the principle upon which Rexall success is founded.

We are proud of our connection with Rexall. We are proud to be able to offer to the people of this community, a line of remedies that we can back up with every bit of reputation we have earned by square dealing and honest, conscientious treatment of our trade.

Our confidence in Rexall is shown by the fact that we absolutely guarantee every Rexall remedy we sell. This is not an empty phrase with us, we mean just what we say. If you buy a Rexall remedy and are not entirely satisfied with it, all you need to do is to bring the empty bottle or package back to us and say "I was not satisfied, please give me my money" and we will return the money to you instantly and cheerfully.

We feel that you are conferring an obligation upon us when you do this. We want to know every case that the Rexall remedies fail to cure. We want you to get your money back if the remedy has not done the work you expected it to do.

Can any principle of business be fairer than this? Is it not thoroughly in accord with President Roosevelt's doctrine of the square deal for every man?

From time to time in newspaper announcements, we shall say various things about various Rexall remedies. We want the people to understand thoroughly what the word Rexall means to every family in this entire community. If the real facts about Rexall were appreciated to-day, no other patent medicines would need to be offered to the people.

FRANK M. SMITH BOLTS HERRICK

THINKS COX'S PICTURE SHOULD TAKE EAGLE'S PLACE ON REPUBLICAN TICKET.

Former Newark Republican Leader Now Lives in Cincinnati and He Knows Mr. Cox Very Well.

Frank M. Smith, former Newark councilman and member of the board of elections and for years Republican leader in Licking county politics, who while a resident of this city was a member of the well known lumber firm of P. Smith's Sons, has bolted Governor Herrick and at the coming election will support John M. Pittison, the Democratic candidate for governor. Mr. Smith who now lives in Cincinnati is secretary of the National Lumber Dealers' Association and as a resident of Cincinnati and a close observer of political affairs, is in position to size up George B. Cox and his corrupt methods in Cincinnati. Mr. Smith was in Dayton the other day and while there met a newspaper man to whom he remarked that it would be proper this year for the Republicans to change their emblem, substituting the American eagle with a portrait of George B. Cox.

JOHN G. PATTON

Former Newark Man Owns Fine Cafe in Philadelphia That Cost a Hundred Forty Thousand.

Another Newark boy who has gone rapidly to the front and attained great success in his sphere of life is Mr. J. G. Patton, now of Philadelphia. Mr. Patton lived here years ago, and is a son of the late Dr. Thomas Patton of this city, and was formerly known as "Johnny" Patton. Mr. Patton is now the proprietor of the Cafe L'Aiglon, in Philadelphia, which is to the Quaker City smart set what Delmonico's and Sherry's are to the smart set of New York. The cafe represents an investment of $140,000, and is one of the most complete and elegant places of the kind in America. Mr. Patton's many Newark friends will congratulate him on his success in life.

SCOTTY FATALLY HURT BY AUTO

GOLD MINER WHO MADE RECORD BREAKING RUN IS FATALLY INJURED.

Machine Got Away and He was Hurled to the Street, His Back Being Broken by the Fall.

Los Angeles, Cal., Oct. 31.—"Death Valley Scotty," the millionaire gold miner, who recently made a record-breaking run across the continent to show the American people what speed really means, will never live, it is believed, to make his proposed run against the schedule of the Harriman special, which he promised to do in the near future.

Scotty was probably fatally injured last night in an automobile wreck in the suburbs of this city. He was trying to break the local auto record when his machine got away from him, and he was hurled to the street. His back was broken and the attending physician says that the injury is almost necessarily fatal.

A Reward for Triplets.
Columbus, O., Oct. 31.—John Major, of 13 Waring street, Cleveland, has written Governor Herrick that he is the father of triplets, and intimates that he should be rewarded for his good fortune by turning out the theories of President Roosevelt.

FARMER'S FRIENDS VERY ANXIOUS

ALBERT YOST WAS LAST SEEN IN THE VILLAGE OF BREMEN SUNDAY EVENING.

Livery Rig Missing and It's Thought Something May Have Happened to Yost.

LANCASTER, O., Oct. 31.—Topsy Parrott, of Pleasantville, reported to the chief of police yesterday afternoon that Albert Yost, a well known young farmer residing north of Pleasantville, had called at the livery stable of Pat Kull Saturday evening about 4 o'clock and hired a horse and buggy for an hour or two and has not been heard from by Mr. Kull or any of his folks since. Inquiry, however, developed that he had been in Bremen Sunday evening and fed his horse there, but no trace of him has been found after he left Bremen. They are not only anxious about the rig, but fear something may have happened to Yost.

AUTO COLLIDED

With Light Buggy With Disastrous Results—Occupant of Buggy Narrowly Escaped Injury.

A collision which might have resulted very seriously occurred Monday night shortly after 6:30 o'clock at Evans and Charles street when Dr. C. L. Wyeth's big touring car crashed into a light buggy occupied by Raymond Prior. Roger Pryor, a brother of the driver, was also in the rig and when the crash came, he was thrown to the street, but fortunately escaped unhurt. The buggy was demolished and the steering gear of the auto was badly damaged and the lamps were torn off the machine. Prior claims that the lamps were not burning though the night was quite dark.

DOZEN KILLED

Details of Santa Fe Wreck Near Kansas City—Train Was Running 35 Miles an Hour.

Kansas City, Oct. 31.—Details of the wreck of the Santa Fe California limited bulletined to the Advocate yesterday, show that twelve people were killed and 30 injured. The train was running 35 miles an hour when five cars were ditched by striking a loose rail.

The dead: Roy Stafford, Cleveland; Leo D. Montgomery, Linneus, Mo.; James Seymour, Richmond, Mo., cashier of the Ray County Savings bank; John McGregor, a Santa Fe engineer; Fort Madison, Ia.; Michael Schneider, Chicago; J. F. Capps, baggage man, Chicago; Carl E. Miltoren, immigrant, Brooklyn; Romastilio Peci, immigrant from Naples; Pomerto Rocco, immigrant from Naples; Luther Richardson, colored waiter, Chicago; William Harrison, colored porter, Chicago; Adrian Peattent, immigrant from Northing, Switzerland.

The wreck occurred at what railroad men call the Rock Creek cut, on a curve, where jagged rock walls on each side of the track form a bluff almost a hundred feet high. The engine was going so rapidly that it passed the loose rail in safety. The mail car immediately behind jumped the track and struck the side of the bluff to the right and the four cars following ploughed through it and shot against the high stone wall at the left. The sides of the coaches were torn off by scraping against the rough stone surface and passengers and trainmen ground against the wall were either killed outright or badly hurt.

Will Not Discuss Sale.
Coshocott, O., Oct. 31.—Samuel H. Nicholas, secretary of the Zanesville, Cambridge and Northern Traction line, now projected, declined to confirm or deny the story from Columbus that the company had sold the road to the Widener-Elkins syndicate of Philadelphia. The road has not yet been sold.
